Supporting Recovery

When a friend or family member develops a mental health condition, it's important to know that you're not alone. Family members and caregivers often play a large role in helping and supporting the millions of people in the U.S. who experience mental health conditions each year.

What can family and friends do?

- Learn as much as possible about mental health.
- Show interest in the persons treatment plan and encourage the person to follow it.
- Listen carefully. Simply listening is one of the best ways to show your support.
- Resume "normal" activities and routines. Spend time together on activities unconnected to their illness.
- Don't push too hard. It takes time to heal and ease back into routine activities.
- Express your support out loud. State that you want to help and they are not alone. 1 in 5 US adults experience mental illness each year.
- Don't give up on the person. A person with a mental health condition benefits from having a social support. A good life is possible. Source: NAMI

Pet of the Week!

Owner: Kathy

Breed: Shih Tzu

What We Like: Ellie Mae's favorite thing to do is play catch with her little soccer ball and pick on her brother. Casey's favorite thing is to protect the neighborhood by watching out the front window and staying away from his sister.
