New Bierlein Moore Dealership Aims to Keep Family Focus in Sebewaing

BY CHARLES BUCKEL | Reporter
charles@tcadvertiser.com

SEBEWAING — Those shopping for a new car in Sebewaing are seeing a new name adorning what was the Moore Shoreline car dealership, yet the new name isn't unfamiliar to the area.

The newly minted Bierlein Moore is the result of a partnership between two longstanding family dealerships, Schaefer and Bierlein of Frankenmuth and Moore Motors of Caro. The transition marks a pivotal moment for the businesses. Kyle Bierlein told the Advertiser that this is the first time Schaefer and Bierlein, the oldest family-owned dealership not only in the area but the country, will have more than one store.

"We've always just been in one store. We've never had more than one store, and that's by design more than anything, because of the way we run things. We need to be here, and we need to have our hands involved in it. We need to be involved in the service department, involved in the sales department,” Bierlein said.

Kyle Bierlein had been running Schaefer and Bierlein with his brother Craig Bierlein when, in late 2024, Brad Moore of Moore Motors came to them with an offer. According to Bierlein, he was interested in the idea of the Bierlein brothers becoming partners in his business.

“Not that he needed a partner. He’s got great staff at both stores, and he wants to not have a big group come in and take them over and wipe people out. He wanted it to continue to be family run and family maintained, and he was recommended to reach out to us, and we were in the perfect spot to be looking to grow and diversify,” Bierlein said.

What followed in 2025 was, in Bierlein’s words, an engagement of sorts. The brothers became consultants for Moore Motors in Caro and for Moore Shoreline in Sebewaing. Bierlein said that it was obvious from the beginning that the people at both locations were great, and they understood why Brad Moore wanted to keep the business family-owned and the staff employed.

“It was evident immediately that the people at both places were awesome. And in that we we understood where Brad was coming from,” Bierlein said. “And obviously Brad understood we’d have to put our touches on it as consultants and eventual partners. And we did that throughout the year.”

As they worked, Bierlein said they began to realize that the Sebewaing location would need a little more help, being short-staffed. So the attention shifted there, and Moore Shoreline became the focus for the partnership through the third and fourth quarters of 2025. Finally, in February 2026, Moore Shoreline officially became Bierlein Moore.

“We are partners with Brad there, with the eventual plan to buy Brad out of his portion and for it to be our second store. So Schaefer and Bierlein in Frankenmuth will always be the mothership, but it’s given us the opportunity to diversify. And we’re really excited about partnering with Brad,” Bierlein said.

Now all three men are operating as managers, and Bierlein said that Moore has, in a way, been like a big brother figure to him and his brother, and that they’re fortunate to have him involved. The decisions are being made on the ground in Sebewaing. Both Kyle and Craig Bierlein are at the Sebewaing location multiple times a week, in part because they don’t want to become like corporations that only have their names on dealerships without knowing the people and the communities.

“We want to be there, and be a true family store. And so we’ve added some people. The service department in the Sebewaing store has doubled in size, as far as the number of employees, and they’re doing great. Our manager is great, we’ve hired some employees that had some experience with GM,” Bierlein said.

The mantra “service sells cars” sits on the logo of Schaefer and Bierlein in Frankenmuth, and that mantra is carrying over to Bierlein Moore and eventually to Moore Motors in Caro as well. And so the focus on the service department means that the happier the community is with service, the more they’ll hopefully look for their next car with them as well.

New Bierlein Moore Dealership Aims to Keep Family Focus in Sebewaing

FROM | 12

And the community involvement that Schaefer and Bierlein is known for in Frankenmuth is going to be carried over into the new locations as well. He said they want to do things like sponsor teams and just get involved. Kyle Bierlein has already spoken to the chamber of commerce in Sebewaing and plans to again as time goes on.

“We’re just looking to sponsor the kids teams, and being the focus of the community, the center of the community. It’s what we want to be, what we’ve always been here in Frankenmuth, and what will continue to be in Sebewaing and eventually in Caro,” Bierlein said. “It’s those kinds of things that are the best things you can do to help your business, and again, to gain the trust of all the communities that you’re in.”

One of the things Kyle Bierlein told the Advertiser was that Brad Moore and the Moore family have also done a fantastic job with the communities in Caro and Sebewaing. Bierlein attended the Tuscola County Fair in 2025 with Moore, and he said he wants to be reached out to about things like that.

"I'm excited to do that and support the kids at the 4h auction and things like that, those are all things we want people to call us on," Bierlein said, "we just got to get boots on the ground, is the best way to put it. Brad's been doing it a long time, his kids are older now, it's something that Craig and I can take over."

But as for future plans right now, it's all about continuing the partnership. Throughout the rest of this year, Bierlein said that they will continue consulting with Moore on the Caro location and hopefully by this time next year "have our name on the sign in Caro to be partners with Brad there too."
