Supporting Recovery

When a friend or family member develops a mental health condition, it's important to know that you're not alone. Family members and caregivers often play a large role in helping and supporting the millions of people in the U.S. who experience mental health conditions each year.

What can family and friends do?

- Learn as much as possible about mental health.
- Show interest in the persons treatment plan and encourage the person to follow it.
- Listen carefully. Simply listening is one of the best ways to show your support.
- Resume "normal" activities and routines. Spend time together on activities unconnected to their illness.
- Don't push too hard. It takes time to heal and ease back into routine activities.
- Express your support out loud. State that you want to help and they are not alone. 1 in 5 US adults experience mental illness each year.
- Don't give up on the person. A person with a mental health condition benefits from having a social support. A good life is possible. Source: NAMI

Why you need dental insurance in retirement.

Medicare doesn't pay for dental care.¹

As good as Medicare is, it was never meant to cover everything. If you want protection, you need to purchase individual insurance.

Early detection can prevent small problems from becoming expensive ones.

The best way to avoid large dental bills is preventive care. Experts recommend checkups twice a year.

Previous dental work can wear out.

Your odds of having a dental problem only go up as you age.²

Treatment is expensive — especially the services people over 50 often need.

Unexpected bills, like $190 for a filling, or $1,213 for a crown³ can be a real burden, especially if you're on a fixed income.

When you're comparing plans ...

- ▶ Look for coverage that helps pay for major services.
- ▶ Look for coverage with no deductibles.
- ▶ Shop for coverage with no annual maximum on cash benefits.

Simply put – without dental insurance, there may be an important gap in your healthcare coverage.
