MICHIGAN SUGAR FESTIVAL

2026

Sweet Tradition Continues as Michigan Sugar Festival Returns

BY ADVERTISER NEWS STAFF

SEBEWAING — For generations of residents, Michigan Sugar Festival weekend has been more than a community celebration. It has become a homecoming of sorts, drawing former residents, families and visitors back to the Huron County village to celebrate a tradition rooted in agriculture, history and community pride.

The Michigan Sugar Festival, one of the Thumb's most enduring summer events, honors the sugarbeet industry that has helped define Sebewaing for more than a century. Since its inception in 1965, the festival has grown into the village's largest annual event, attracting thousands of visitors to a community of fewer than 2,000 residents.

At the center of the celebration is Michigan Sugar Company, whose Sebewaing factory has operated continuously since opening in 1902. The facility remains one of the oldest sugarbeet processing factories in the United States and continues to serve as a major economic driver for the region.

The festival's schedule combines long-standing traditions with family-friendly entertainment, offering activities for all ages throughout the weekend.

Festivities begin with community-wide garage sales and continue with special events including the Average Joe Fishing Tournament at the Sebewaing Marina and the Sugar Slicer Golf Tournament at Ubyly Heights Golf & Country Club.

As the festival moves into its main weekend, visitors can enjoy a wide range of activities in and around Sebewaing Village Park. The lineup includes a pie baking contest, children's activities, a foam party, petting zoo, carnival rides, axe throwing, laser tag, a climbing wall and numerous food and vendor offerings throughout the downtown area.

One of the opening highlights is the festival's opening ceremonies, which include recognition of community leaders and the crowning of the Michigan Sugar Queen, along with the festival prince and princess. The evening concludes with entertainment and community festivities in the main entertainment tent.

Saturday features several of the festival's most popular attractions, beginning with the Rotary Beet Feet 5K and continuing with the annual Michigan Sugar Festival Grand Parade. Thousands of spectators traditionally line village streets to watch floats, bands, community organizations and local businesses take part in one of the festival's signature events.

Additional Saturday attractions include the Sebewaing Township Fire Department chicken barbecue, Ride A Clyde horse experiences, face painting, inflatables, historical tours, live music, tractor displays and opportunities to meet the Michigan Sugar Queen and her court. The day concludes with fireworks at dusk and evening entertainment in the festival tent.

The celebration continues Sunday with a pancake breakfast, worship service, vendor displays, carnival attractions, historical society tours, a car, truck and motorcycle show, an egg toss competition and the popular kiddie pedal tractor pull.

Among the weekend's longest-running traditions are the Farmers vs. Merchants softball games, which close out the festival Sunday afternoon and evening. The event has become a favorite gathering point for residents and visitors alike, blending friendly competition with community spirit. The ladies game is sponsored by Kauffold Agency and is scheduled from 4 to 6 p.m., followed by the men's contest from 6 to 8 p.m.

The festival also serves as a celebration of Sebewaing's unique heritage. The village takes its name from the Ojibwe word "ziibiweng," meaning "by the stream," a reference to the Sebewaing River that flows through the community. Founded in 1845, Sebewaing was shaped by German immigrants whose influence can still be seen throughout the village.

Before sugarbeets became synonymous with Sebewaing, brewing was one of the community's most important industries. The E.O. Braendle Brewery, established in 1880, later became the Sebewaing Brewing Co. and operated until 1965. Today, the community's identity is most closely linked to the sugar industry, which continues to support local families, businesses and organizations throughout the region.

More than six decades after its founding, the Michigan Sugar Festival remains a showcase of everything that makes Sebewaing unique — its agricultural roots, community traditions and the people who continue to keep those traditions alive. From the parade and fireworks to the carnival, softball games and community gatherings, the festival offers a celebration of both the village's history and its future.
